WALSH SPECIAL WRECKED; ONE KILLED, SEVERAL HURT

Millionaire Colorado Mine Owner Injured---Fireman Cunningham Killed and Engineer Callahan Perhaps Fatally Wounded---Both Are Colorado City Men---Head-on Collision at Boyer on Colorado Midland, 70 Miles West of Colorado Springs.

Thomas F Walsh and C W Benson of Denver sustained painful bruises and narrowly escaped death at six o'clock yesterday afternoon in a head-on collision between the Walsh special and a freight train on the Colorado Midland road near Boyer 70 miles west of Colorado Springs. The accident resulted in the death of Fireman Frank Cunningham and the serious injury of Engineer E J Callahan both of Colorado City composing the crew of the lead engine on west-bound freight No. [illegible]

Colorado Midland passenger train No. 4 due in Colorado Springs at 9:50 p m which arrived at the scene of the wreck about 1:30 o'clock brought the victims of the accident to this city. Messrs Walsh and Benson went to the Antlers hotel, where Dr B P Anderson of this city dressed their wounds and Engineer Callahan was taken to St Francis hospital, where he received prompt attention. His left leg is broken. The body of Fireman Cunningham was removed from the train at Colorado City and taken to the Beyle undertaking establishment.

Mr Walsh's injuries consist of an abrasion near the left eye and a badly bruised cheek, which caused him only temporary pain. They were dressed with bandages, no stitches being required. Mr Benson was injured less seriously although he was unconscious for several minutes after the collision. Mr Walsh last night telephoned Mrs Walsh at Wolhurst, their summer home near Denver, assuring her that his injuries are slight. He and Mr Benson will go to Wolhurst today.

The dead

FRANK CUNNINGHAM, aged 38, [illegible] of the freight residing at [illegible] avenue, Colorado City.

The injured

E J Callahan, engineer [illegible] residing at 210 Galena, Colorado City, left leg broken and right leg and foot badly scalded. Thomas F Walsh, Wolhurst, Colo, cut over right eye and bruises on face. C W Benson, Denver, slightly bruised.

The cause of the collision is somewhat of a mystery. The Walsh special train had just left Salida, its destination for Colorado Springs, and had run but 43 miles when the accident occurred. It was in charge of Conductor W J Norvail and it is said that he sent one of his brakemen Thomas Rody ahead to signal the freight a double-header which was standing on the main track at Boyer. Whether he failed to perform his duty or whether his signal was not seen by the crews on the freight is not known. No 43 forged ahead and had advanced only a short distance beyond the switch at that station when the special passenger bore down upon it.

Both trains it is understood were running at a slow rate of speed when the collision took place. It is said by a witness that had the special been ten seconds earlier, it would have passed safely onto the switch.

Fireman Cunningham who was killed was caught in the wreck of his [illegible]

[illegible] men were placed on east-bound passenger train No. 4 which arrived at the scene of the wreck soon after the west-bound train arrived and were brought into this city. The body of Cunningham was taken off at Colorado City and taken to the undertaking parlors of Beyle & Co. where it will be prepared for burial. Mr Callahan was brought to Colorado Springs and was taken at once to the St Francis hospital in the city ambulance.

Messrs Walsh and Benson boarded No 4 for Colorado Springs and arrived at 10 o'clock the train having been delayed for more than three hours on account of the wreck.

The crew on freight engine No 26 consisted of Engineer Dan Phelan and [illegible] Colorado City and the intelligence of the death of her husband reached Mrs Cunningham she was overcome with grief and was under a physician's care when the dead body was taken from the train. The unfortunate man was about 38 years of age. Besides a wife he leaves a daughter aged six years.

As soon as preparations could be made a wreck train was made up and sent out from Colorado City with the wreck crew and General Superintendent J C Vining and General Foreman W J Schlack aboard, Messrs Vining and Schlack going in the former's private car. While the track had been cleared, the wreck train was necessary to re-

SORORIAL FIGHT ENDS IN DEATH

VANCOUVER, Wash, June 6—As the result of a quarrel last night Mrs Alice Myers, who lives at Washington D C lies dead and her sister Miss Clara Lavoie is seriously burned.

As near as can be learned by the sheriff Mrs Myers became enraged at her sister and threw a lighted lamp at her. In so doing Mrs Myers sprinkled herself with the ignited oil and although her sister was hit by the lamp the fire it caused on the latter was quickly extinguished. It required considerable time however, to put out the flames which enveloped Mrs Myers and although she was not seriously burned externally, she inhaled the flames to such an extent that she died today. The tragedy occurred at the home of the mother of the women where Mrs. Myers was visiting.

PACKERS TRY TO "EXPLAIN"

ATTEMPT TO REFUTE THE SENSATIONAL REYNOLDS-NEILL REPORT.

AN EMPLOYE ENTERS GENERAL DENIAL OF CHARGES BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON AGRICULTURE

WASHINGTON, June [illegible] [illegible] agriculture [illegible] Wilson [illegible] he said he was an employe [illegible] Nelson Morris company [illegible] this instance was presenting [illegible] the Chicago packers' attempt [illegible] the sensational Reynolds-Neill report regarding [illegible] the packing plants.

Mr Wilson made a general denial and asked the committee to go to Chicago and spend a week in making investigations. He claimed the canned meat was as good five years after it had been put up as it was five minutes afterward. Instead of putting the [illegible] not [illegible] to freshen up the goods he said it was done to [illegible] cans which hindered [illegible] of the goods.

Says Report Is Erroneous

He denied that there were any diseased cattle or hogs butchered for food. In every carload of cattle or hogs he said some were likely to be dead and some diseased. These dead or diseased hogs and cattle were sent to the Standard Rendering company which was a very different institution from the slaughtering companies although the two were likely to be confused in the mind. The rendering company turned the dead and diseased meat into grease which was a co-product in the manufacture of soap.

Mr Wilson described in detail the operation of preparing canned meats and was asked by Representative Scott of Kansas a member of the committee, "How about the rope and other foreign matter found with the scraps on the floor."

Mr Wilson explained that what was probably seen in this instance was the string on the knuckle end of what had been dried beef. This string was used to hang the beef in the smoke house and when the beef had been sliced off this knuckle end was left. There was a bone in it and he said it was impossible to use it. The bone would smash the machine if an attempt was made to use it.

"I do not believe Mr Neill got any statement from any one that they were going to chop these pieces up. If he did, it was from some who did not know or he did not get the whole statement."

Afraid of "Outside" Talent.

Representative Haskins asked about the dirty floors.

"These floors" replied Mr Wilson "are scrubbed every night as clean as

PURCHASING MAN GOT COAL STOCK

ANOTHER PENNSYLVANIA OFFICIAL ADMITS THAT HE ACCEPTED "GIFTS" FROM COAL COMPANIES.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6—That he accepted gifts of stock amounting to $11,000 and money aggregating more than $46,000 from coal mining companies during a period of about three years was admitted today by Joseph Boyer, chief clerk in the office of A W Gibbs, superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr Boyer purchased the coal used in locomotives, and the donors of the gifts were the coal companies which furnish the fuel to the railroad. Mr Boyer named five companies which allowed him from three to five cents on each ton sold to the railroad company. He declared that he never asked for the allowance, but accepted it because he was following a custom of the department. In fact, one of the coal company officials told him he had paid it before and wanted to continue paying it to the witness. Mr. Boyer denied that he divided the money with any other official or employe of the railroad. He said he kept it all.

A. W. Gibbs, Mr. Boyer's superior officer, on the stand said he was unaware that such conditions existed in his department.

Mr. Boyer said he was at first disinclined to accept the money, but after thinking it over decided that he was doing nothing unusual.

"How long did you wrestle with your conscience?" asked Commissioner Clement. The witness did not know.

M. K. Reeves, assistant to Vice President Pugh, admitted that he had accepted stock from Colonel George S. Huff and David E. Williams. Colonel Huff, he said, purchased some of his holdings in the Keystone Coal & Coke company, paying him $30,000 for it.

Mr Reeves stated that he had known Colonel Huff since boyhood, and declared the latter knew he was not in a position to favor him when the stock was presented.

A number of employes of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad were examined during the afternoon, and the committee endeavored to learn through J. E. Mulford, general superintendent of motive power, concerning arrangements between the railroad and the H C Frick company concerning the repairing of cars. Mr Mulford admitted that the Frick company had an advantage over other companies but was unable to tell why. He said it had been the practice for the past ten years, but he did not know the [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible]

COMMISSIONER FINDS REPORT WAS CORRECT

CHICAGO, June 6.—When Building Commissioner Bartzen went to the hog plant of one of the large packing houses and it was found that the stairways and fire escapes were not sufficiently ample for the number of employes, and the owners of the plant were instructed to put [illegible] stairways in all the buildings of the plant. They promised to do so at once.

Commissioner Bartzen personally went to the hog killing department of one of the large packing houses and described the conditions he found there as filthy and dirty.

He characterized the rooms as wholly unfit for the uses to which it is put. From the hog killing department he went to the portion of the plant where cattle are killed and dressed. Here the walls were covered with calcimine scarcely dry. After going through this building the Commissioner left for his office in the city hall. He said before leaving the stock yards that there is not a modern building in the entire district devoted to the packing industry. The majority of them he declared "are dilapidated, filthy and unfit for such use as is made of them."

He directed that the inspection should be of the most thorough character and the work will not be completed inside of four or five days.

LOSS OF $150.000,000

C. W. Armour Says Agitation Will Hurt Meat Trade.

KANSAS CITY, June 6—It is estimated that the business done by the packing houses located here will suffer to the extent of $10,000,000 as a result of the agitation in connection with the president's crusade against canned meats.

Representatives of the various plants seen yesterday agreed with the estimate of yesterday that the business of the whole country would show a decrease of at least $150,000,000. Charles W. Armour said yesterday

"All the agitation is going to do an immense amount of damage, and in quarters where it will be the hardest to overcome the prejudices aroused. It will be a long time before the prejudice against American meats in England is allayed and it will be still longer on the continent. Everybody knows how hard it is to control the meat trade in Germany and France. The world is allied commercially against the United States. It is only by dint of sheer superiority of products, better methods and American strenuousity that America holds her own.

"I do not think the estimate of $150,000,000 loss to the packers in the whole country is exaggerated."

BOULDER, Colo, June 6—General Nelson A. Miles delivered the address to the graduating class of the University of Colorado today. His subject was "Our Country and the Responsibilities and Possibilities of Its Citizens," and he elaborated on the suggestion that the destiny of the nation is now more than ever in the control of the citizens.

"The three necessary requisites of good citizenship are intelligence, character and [illegible]," he said. "Every time a citizen fails to exercise the right of franchise he commits a treasonable and unpatriotic act. Every office holder who devotes his time and attention to personal interests or to secure his own selfish purpose, is false to his duties as a representative of the people. This republic must continue on its march of progress or it must [illegible] into decay by the acts of its own citizens."

General Miles spoke of the advancement made in Colorado since the time when he was campaigning through the state quelling the numerous Indian disturbances. He declared that the world had seen enough of war.

move the battered remains of engines No. 28 and 42.

When asked as to the probable cause of the accident Mr. Vining said:

"To give out a statement at this time might be to place the blame on the wrong party. There are at least a dozen persons who might be partially or wholly responsible. We will make a thorough investigation of the matter, and will be sure we are right before we charge any one with the unfortunate affair."

"It is unnecessary to state that I regret very much that such a thing should have occurred. Our road has been singularly free from serious wrecks. In fact, in the last fourteen years but two fatalities have resulted from wrecks on our lines. In 1901 Engineer Delano was killed by his engine falling from the trestle at a point where the rain had washed away the roadbed. At another time a broken rail caused several coaches to leave the track, and R. W. English, a musician of Colorado Springs, was killed and six others injured. This train contained 400 passengers."

Referring again to the wreck of yesterday, Mr. Vining said:

"It was the duty of the flagman on the special train, as I understand the circumstances, to go ahead and signal the freight, warning it of the approach of the special. Whether he did this or not I am unable to say. I do not understand how either train could have been beyond the vision of the crew of the other, as it is possible to see ahead at this point, in either direction, for a quarter of a mile."

The condition of Engineer Callahan, who was so badly injured, is considered serious, and his recovery is uncertain. Drs. P. H. Perkins of this city and C. L. Ferguson of Denver attended his injuries at the St. Francis hospital.

On the arrival of train No. 4 at the Santa Fe station Mr. Walsh was met by Judge Horace G. Lunt. Mr. Walsh came to the Springs from Wolhurst on the midnight train from Denver on Tuesday night, and went to the Antlers hotel, where he was met by David T. Adams of Duluth, Minn., A. G. Fitzgerald of South park and J. H. James of Chicago, who were in waiting to accompany him through the South park placer territory, in which they are interested.

It was at the request of these gentlemen that the trip was made. Mr. Walsh was so affected by the accident and the sad incidents connected with it that he was not disposed to say much last evening regarding the result of his investigation of the territory. Several samples were brought back by Mr. Walsh which, when tested, will indicate the value of the property.

Walsh Talks of Wreck.

"It is all so sad and terrible," said Mr. Walsh to a representative of The Gazette, who boarded train No. 4 at Colorado City, "that I really do not feel in the mood to say anything of my experiences."

Mr. Walsh was just leaving the parlor car, from which the body of Fireman Cunningham had been lifted to the Colorado City ambulance. Inside the car also lay Engineer Callahan, bruised and mangled.

"First of all, I wish to be quoted as saying that, whatever may be found to have been the cause of the terrible accident, I shall stand by the crews of both trains. I have known most of these boys for many years. In my travels about the mountains and in Leadville I have met them, and I want to say that to my knowledge they are all conscientious and capable railroad men. I am firmly of the belief that they will be in no way implicated in the causes for the accident.

"My injuries are trivial," continued Mr. Walsh, holding a white handkerchief to his scarred and bruised right cheek and eye. "Of course, I am mighty grateful that they are no worse. My whole mind at present is on the poor fellow whom they are taking back to his loved ones, lost to them forever. It is a terrible thing, and when I think of that poor family who have lost their bread-winner and what a terrible ordeal it will be for the poor wife I can think of nothing else.

Storm in the Mountains.

"When our special left for the Springs this afternoon I believe it was the wildest day I ever saw in the mountains. The wind had blown a hurricane all day, and it was so fierce that we had extreme difficulty in keeping our seats in the carriage in which our party drove over the territory we had gone to visit. We had absolutely no warning of the accident, and, although we were running comparatively slow at the time, when the trains came together the impact was terrible.

"About all I know of what happened for some time after I got from Mr. Benson. He tells me that when the trains came together I shot from my seat over the backs of several other seats and landed on my face and forehead. For some time I was so dazed that I could not realize what had taken place. When I finally recovered my senses, although I was bleeding profusely, I realized that, as I was probably one of the least injured, my duty was to look after those who perhaps needed attention more than I.

"When I got out of the car and saw the terrible condition of the fireman, whom the crews were endeavoring to extricate from the wreckage, my first endeavor was to procure medical assistance. But none was to be had. Here we were in an obscure part of the mountains, where neither medicine nor doctors could be had.

Doctor Finally Secured.

"Blankets were the only things to be secured, and it was not until the arrival of the west-bound Midland train, an hour and a half after the accident occurred that we were able to secure a doctor. On this train was Dr. C. Ferguson, with whom I am acquainted, and he immediately took charge of the injured and with the assistance of the crews and the members of my party did all that he could to relieve the suffering. Dr. Ferguson, however, had no medicine to administer, but with the bandages brought down to the scene of the accident by Mr. James and his party, whom we had left but a short way back, our wounds were dressed, and we were all made as comfortable as we could be under the circumstances.

"The sufferings of that poor, bruised and mangled engineer were terrible, but he was one of the gamest men I ever saw, and I sincerely hope he will recover. We did not think that Fireman Cunningham was so badly hurt, but his injuries were internal and he lived but a short time after the wreck.

"Don't ask me who was to blame for the accident, for I have not the slightest idea. I understand, however, that if we had reached the siding, which was but a few seconds' run ahead, the accident would never have happened. As I said before, I want to testify to my thorough confidence in the men who composed the crews of both trains. Even in the fact of this accident, I would be willing to trust my life in their hands at any time I may take a trip into the mountains."

ACADEMIC PROCESSION FEATURE OF EXERCISES

A feature of commencement exercises at Colorado college will be the academic procession Sunday afternoon. The procession will form at Cogurn library at 3:30 o'clock Sunday, headed by Professor George E. Lyon, marshal of the day, and will march to Perkins hall, where President William F. Slocum will deliver the baccalaureate sermon. Marching in the procession, in order, will be the members of the graduating class dressed in caps and gowns, candidates for the master's degree, the college faculty wearing gowns and hoods whose shape and color indicate the rank and college of the wearer, the college trustees, distinguished guests and the president.

The baccalaureate sermon is in many respects the most important event in the entire college year, and will be listened to by a large congregation. President Slocum is noted throughout the west as a pulpit orator of great power, and he is always at his best in his parting words to the seniors. The public is invited to attend the exercises.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS GET DIPLOMAS TONIGHT

The members of the class of 1906 of the Colorado Springs High school will be graduated this evening, commencement exercises to be held in Temple theater.

The principal address will be delivered by President Slocum, of Colorado college. Diplomas will be presented to the class, which numbers 75, by W. P. Kinney, president of the school board.

Music will be furnished for the occasion by the High school Glee club. The opening prayer will be made by the Rev. J. H. Franklin.

AMERICAN IS FAVORITE

Ivy Sutton in Fair for English Lawn Tourney.

LIVERPOOL, June 6.—There was a fine attendance when the North England championship tennis game was resumed. Most interest focused in the singles in which Miss May Sutton of California met Miss J. D. Sturton of Lincoln. Throughout it was just a question as to the margin by which Miss Sutton would win. She gave no quarter, and driving and serving with great power won, 6-0, 6-1. It is the general impression that the American will retain the northern championship despite the recent form of Miss Douglas, who is considered her most dangerous rival.

MANY CHANGES EXPECTED IN THE YALE BOAT CREW

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 6.—Yale varsity and freshmen rowing crew squads went to New London today. Their departure was made the occasion for a great demonstration by the undergraduates. UNREST AMONG RUSSIAN TROOPS

NEW CLOUD LOOMS ON GOVERNMENT HORIZON—TROOPS IMBUED WITH REVOLUTIONARY SPIRIT.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 6.—A new cloud looming in the government's horizon is serious unrest among the troops, the only stay of administration in case of an open rupture with parliament, evidence of which unrest is being received from many quarters.

In addition to the Kursk troubles which, in spite of the official disclaimer that they are of political character, are known to have been fomented by revolutionists, there is open ferment in the garrison of Odessa, while the Cossacks at Rostoff-on-Don and elsewhere are muttering because of the long time they have been absent from their homes.

In addition it is learned that the new recruits, instead of revivifying the loyalty of the army, have infected the ranks still further with the revolutionary spirit which is so widespread among the peasantry.

Undoubtedly it is right to say that the army cannot be depended upon and that it is certain that disaffection has made wide spread strides since last summer and the revolutionists are now bending their entire efforts to this propaganda.

PACKERS TRY TO "EXPLAIN"

Would it be possible [illegible] which has begun [illegible] putrefy [illegible] asked Chairman Wadsworth.

[illegible] unless the meat were [illegible] he declared that the use [illegible] packers [illegible] their business. At this point a recess was taken for luncheon.

When the hearing was resumed Dr. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, was asked a number of questions concerning ante-mortem examinations of cattle bought by packing houses. He explained that these examinations were all conducted in the stock yards. He was asked if he believed any diseased meat was put on the market in any form, but he would not express an opinion. He explained in detail the disposition of diseased cattle through the stock exchange but said no such [illegible]

Dead Hogs Not Revolting

[illegible] Mr. Wilson said [illegible] hogs [illegible] think there was anything revolting about that.

[illegible]

Prefuming Inadvisable

Chairman Wadsworth [illegible] Mr. Wilson [illegible] there was nothing of the kind [illegible] to give rise to [illegible]

The [illegible] toilet rooms [illegible] the workers [illegible] and the practice defended [illegible] being [illegible] first class hotel [illegible] toilets were kept [illegible]

Suitable places were furnished workmen to wash, he said, and asserted that the men all carried bunches of cheese cloth which was used as towels. The men preferred this, said Mr. Wilson.

Repeating his invitation to members of the committee to visit the packing house, Mr. Wilson said that the houses are always open and that millions of people passed through every year.

If we should visit the packing houses would there be any changes made before we arrived? asked Mr. Wadsworth.

Will Accept Suggestions

We always take advantage of good suggestions and Messrs. Reynolds and Neill made some [illegible] replied Mr. Wilson.

He thought the changes, however, would not permit the committee from getting at the facts.

Mr. Wilson questioned [illegible] in the Reynolds report that [illegible] of a hog had slipped from [illegible] into a privy and had been picked up and placed with clean carcasses. He called upon Dr. Neill to state that it did not happen in one of the big packing houses.

It did [illegible] Dr. Neill replied emphatically. Although requested by [illegible] of the committee to state which one Dr. Neill refused.

But [illegible] Mr. Wilson has just [illegible] said, happened [illegible]

Mr. Wilson [illegible] New York packing house and said that the house [illegible] sanitary [illegible] of the city. The new house of his firm in Kansas City would compare favorably with the New York house.

Asked about the statement that the employes relieved themselves on the floor, Mr. Wilson was inclined to question this entirely. If seen at all it must have been in one of the smaller houses.

Messrs. Reynolds and Neill would have to stand around a long time to see anything of the kind in a large packing house, he said, and any man doing it would be instantly discharged.

Character of Employes

As to the character of the employes Mr. Wilson denied that they were the refuse of humanity or that the recent strike had made any changes. He denied that girls were compelled to stand while working, saying there were places for them to sit down, but undoubtedly some of them preferred to stand most of the time so that they might do their work more handily. Rooms were provided in which the employes might eat, and all of the big packers furnished coffee to their employes for one cent a cup.

Representative Scott asked if Mr. Wilson had ever investigated packing houses abroad.

He had in England but said American methods were far superior.

"Have you had any difficulty prior to this agitation with your foreign markets?" asked Mr. Scott.

"We are having a great deal of trouble now," replied the witness.

Mr. Wilson then took up the Beveridge amendment. He wanted the language to condemn carcasses only when the carcasses are "found to be unfit for human food." To illustrate, he said a carcass might be bruised on the shoulder and be otherwise all right.

Dr. Melvin was asked for an opinion, and said that as applied to a live animal it might be "unsound," but fit for food, but applied to a dead animal a carcass that was unsound might not be fit for food.

Mr. Wadsworth said the whole thing was whether the animal was or was not fit for human food.

Objections to Adjectives

"What's the use of burdening the law with a lot of adjectives, such as 'sound,' 'healthful,' etc.," he asked.

Mr. Wilson made the same objection to the use of the words "impure," "unsound," "unhealthful," etc., wherever they qualified the inspection throughout the amendment. The committee spent some time in discussing the question.

There would be no objection, Mr. Wilson said, to a sanitary regulation strong as practicable. He admitted that the names of their products did not describe the article.

"As a matter of fact," asked Representative Scott, "is anything you put up called potted chicken which is not chicken?"

"No sir, our potted chicken is made entirely out of chicken."

At this point the committee adjourned until tomorrow.

What Can I Do To Aid My Cure?

This is a question that is naturally and frequently asked by those who have come here at a big expense to get well. While one dreads to admit even to themselves that they have consumption, they know that their home doctor would not have advised them to come out here unless there was some trouble with their lungs more serious than Bronchitis. There are very few physicians in the East who would send a patient out here for a simple Bronchitis, for it is a curable disease. So that it is safe as a general rule to conclude that when a patient is advised to come into a high altitude because they cough, that they have consumption in some of its stages. When one has so serious a disease as consumption or any trouble with their lungs the best thing to do is to look the facts squarely in the face and not try to be deceived about it. If it were true that there were no help for it, it were better not to give the situation a thought, but since there is a means of cure in some cases and of help in all, it is a plain business proposition to adopt some reasonable method that will aid the climate in bringing about a cure. Any one would be surprised if they could know how many patients are here who, when they came, expected that the climate would so far cure them that they could return to their homes and business in from six months to a year. Instead of that they find the climate has only been able to prolong their lives, and that they are no nearer a cure that would enable them to go home than when they first came. Now the question comes to all such cases, "what can I do to aid in my cure?" Plainly it is not best to go on without doing something that is really an aid, and if possible a cure in itself. This is exactly what the SHEPARD TREATMENT for CONSUMPTION is. It HAS cured a good many cases in low altitudes without any change of climate. It HAS cured a good many cases here that were not curable by the climate. It HAS cured cases of consumption in the East who had to leave here on account of their hearts. It HAS cured cases both here and in the East whose worst trouble seemed to be their stomachs. It HAS cured cases with all sorts of complications. It will cure cases here that it will not cure in the East, so it is an aid to the climate and the climate is an aid to it. The result is that when the two are used together and Dr. Shepard's directions in regard to care and diet are followed out the patient is doing the very best thing that can be done to aid in their cure.

You feel stupid after eating heavy foods—they draw blood away from the brain during digestion.

You can't work brain and stomach to their full capacity at the same time.

For a clear brain all day try Apitezo with cream for lunch as well as breakfast.

Apitezo

is the only food in which all the necessary food elements are scientifically combined. It is good for old and young—for growing children and their mothers and for growing business men.

Apitezo is worth eating for what it does. It keeps you well supplied with the little red corpuscles which are your business amunition.

And Apitezo is worth eating for what it is—a crisp, delicious cereal—as tasty as any you ever ate, and the only one containing plenty of iron, in its natural vegetable form.

AMUSEMENTS

"THE BOSOM FRIEND OF BOWSER"

Arlington's comedians presented one of their former successes at the Opera house last evening, that most laughable three-act comedy, "The Bosom Friend of Bowser." It is a good clean comedy full of laughable situations, free from the usual slap stick work which usually accompanies farce comedies of this order. It was splendidly received and the large audience was most liberal in its applause.

Mayme Arlington as Rose Waters, the Secret, was most enjoyable and gave a fine all around performance. W. W. Craig as Colonel Bowser presented another of his fine character portrayals. L. S. Allen as Malvin Meekman was highly entertaining as a henpecked husband and played the part to perfection. Elsa Morgan as Mrs. Meekman was an able second. Florence Craig as Mrs. Bowser, Thomas Powley as Travis Dale and Lew Verdin as Tom gave universal satisfaction in their respective roles. The specialties by Mayme Arlington, Verdin and Dunlap and Baby Helen were new and up-to-date and were heartily received. "The Bosom Friend of Bowser" will be repeated again at the matinee this afternoon, also this evening.

HENRIETTA CROSMAN COMING.

Henrietta Crosman will appear at the Opera house next Wednesday evening in her latest and greatest New York success, "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary." Miss Crosman has a proud record of successes, but the most brilliant mark comes from her work in this new comedy. The appearance here of so gifted an actress, unquestionably the most talented and the most popular on the stage today, will appeal to all patrons of the theater in this city and vicinity. Miss Crosman needs no heralding. Her many triumphs are bright chapters in latter day American dramatic history. No one has ever made so many and so long New York runs as she. Her record is two years in New York in Mistress Nell, 100 nights in "As You Like It," two seasons in "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" and long runs in other of her plays. In nothing that she has done has she won so much approval as she has in "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary." Herein she has scored the biggest popular hit she has ever made.

Under the direction of Mrs. William Barber the senior class play of Colorado college is in shape to be presented Friday evening as one of the really good amateur performances of the year.

The play is a comedy and was classed by Sir Henry Irving as one of the ten best plays in the English language. Full of wit and humor, the college students have gained an excellent conception of their parts and give them in a way worthy of the play.

This is the last appearance of the senior class on Friday evening.

The Gazette courts the friendship of the little folks as well as the older. It will stand treat for a big day at the Zoo. Watch for date.

WEATHER MARS ROYALTY'S VISIT

EMPERORS WILLIAM AND FRANCIS JOSEPH HAD EXTREMELY CORDIAL MEETING SAFETY PRECAUTIONS

VIENNA, June 6.—Cold rainy weather marred the first day of the visit of Emperor William of Germany to Emperor Francis Joseph. The projected drive around the gardens was abandoned owing to the impassable condition of the road. Extraordinary precautions had been taken to insure the safety of the German emperor, the public being rigidly excluded from the northern station this morning, while police lined the road between Pensing and Schoenbrunn. The park, the gardens and all the approaches to the palace were guarded with a strong force of infantry and cavalry in addition to many police and detectives.

When Emperor William arrived he was greeted at the northern railroad station by Emperor Francis Joseph in person. The meeting was marked by extreme cordiality, the monarchs kissing each other three times.

After introducing their suites the emperors proceeded to Schoenbrunn castle. On their arrival at the station near the castle the imperial party was met by the archdukes, the members of the German embassy, the Austrian ambassador to Germany and the principal military and civil authorities. A regimental band on the platform played the Prussian national anthem. Emperor William inspected the guard of honor, after which the monarchs drove to the castle. They were cheered along the route. A number of archduchesses awaited their majesties at the castle, where the German Emperor subsequently received in audience Count Goluchowski, the Austria-Hungarian minister of Foreign Affairs, Dr. Wekerle, the Hungarian premier, and Baron Von Beck, the Austrian premier.

Later Emperor William drove through the town and called on members of the Austrian imperial family. The two emperors dined tonight with the Archduchess Maria Valerie at Lainz.

Biliousness and Constipation

"For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The effects were simply marvelous. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally. They bring back new life and energy, a bright eye, a clear brow and a happy heart."—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all druggists.

WHY HE WAS POPULAR

When former Senator William E. Chandler was making the fight of his life for re-election in New Hampshire the Washington correspondents were quite generally for him. It was assumed in some quarters that this was because of their respect for his ability and a liking for his personality, but Mr. Chandler had a theory of his own on the subject. "No, the newspaper men don't love me for that," he said. "I know why it is. It's because I am always raising Cain and supplying them with good copy."

SUFFERED AGONIES FOR FOUR YEARS

Whole Foot Nothing But Proud Flesh—Tried Different Physicians and All Kinds of Ointments—Could Walk Only With Crutches—Ohio Man Says:

"CUTICURA REMEDIES THE BEST ON EARTH"

"In the year 1899 the side of my right foot was cut off from the little toe down to the heel, and the physician who had charge of me was trying to sew up the side of my foot, but with no success. When he found out that wouldn't work, he began trying to heal the wound with all kinds of ointment, until at last my whole foot and way up above my calf was nothing but proud flesh. I suffered untold agonies for four years, and tried different physicians and all kinds of ointments. I could walk only with crutches. It is sixteen months ago since I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for my limb and foot. The first two months the Cuticura Remedies did not seem to work, but I kept on using them both. In two weeks afterwards I saw a change in my limb. Then I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment often during the day and kept it up for seven months, when my limb was healed up just the same as if I never had trouble.

"It is eight months now since I stopped using Cuticura Remedies, the best on God's earth. I am working at the present day, after five years of suffering. The cost of Cuticura Ointment and Soap was only $6; but the doctors' bills were more like $600. You can publish my name and refer any one to write to me about Cuticura Remedies. I will answer all letters if postage is enclosed. John M. Lloyd, 718 S. Arch Ave., Alliance, Ohio, June 27, 1905."

FAIRLEY TALKS

D. B. Fairley, chairman of the Republican State central committee, who returned from Denver yesterday, denied that he had resigned from the chairmanship of the committee, but stated that he would not be a candidate for re-election this fall.

"I have already served two terms as chairman of the state central committee and I do not believe in third terms," said Mr. Fairley. John F. Vivian, secretary of the central committee, is said to be in line to succeed Mr. Fairley.

PALMER BUYS FINE KENTUCKY SADDLER

General William J. Palmer is reported to have purchased The Moor, one of Kentucky's finest saddle horses, for $7,500 from Major David Castleman, a prominent Kentucky breeder. The Moor is now on its way to General Palmer's stables at Glen Eyrie. IS WATER WASTE NECESSARY OR IS IT SHEER NEGLECT?

This Now Seems to Be the Question on Which Hydro Controversy Hinges --Business Men Investigate for Themselves but Not by Themselves, Taff Appears on the Scene.

Upon their return from a day's inspection of the city water system representatives of the city council, Real Estate exchange, Merchants association and Chamber of Commerce last night admitted that the biggest question to be decided before the Hydro Electric squabble is settled is the difference between a waste of water and a necessary waste of water. The business men saw water being wasted at a number of places, but whether or not this waste is necessary is still an unanswered question.

Arrangements for the trip had been carried on secretly because the business men wished to inspect the system unmolested and in its every-day condition. But when the party arrived at the South Ruxton intake a man on horseback was seen approaching. After a five minute wait the rider was recognized as one George A. Taff, president and general manager of the Pikes Peak Hydro Electric company. Mr. Taff spent the remainder of the day pointing out to them the whys and the wherefores of the water waste. No conversation was held, however, between Mr. Taff and Water Superintendent T. A. Hopkins, who has fought the Hydro since the inception of the trouble.

The party which made the trip yesterday included Aldermen E. J. Verner and L. R. Hosman, members of the council's water committee; F. W. Kent, T. C. Perkins and Frank Cotten, representing the Real Estate exchange; Frank P. Boynton and Charles T. Fertig from the Merchants association; H. I. Reid from the Chamber of Commerce; H. A. Smith and Mr. Hopkins.

Probably the most interesting place visited was the Hydro's air vent on what is known as the "hump" on the Cabin creek line. The vent has a half-inch opening and water was shooting into the air to a height of about 20 feet. Mr. Taff explained to the party that this water waste is an absolute necessity for the line, saying that if the air was not allowed to escape from the pipe the water would back up into the intake. Of course a quantity of water escapes with the air.

Superintendent Hopkins estimates that 190,000 gallons of water escapes from this vent every day, while Mr. Taff laughs at this figure and places the amount at less than half this much. Mr. Taff accuses Mr. Hopkins of photographing the water shoot from a position where it has been spread out by the wind, and Hopkins says that Taff has photographed it from a place where the stream appears very narrow.

J. F. Cribbs, caretaker of the city water works, said yesterday that the water was shooting out [illegible] a height of about fifty feet early yesterday morning, but that as soon as the Hydro people learned that the business men were to visit the water system they shut down the pressure, thus decreasing the waste.

The party visited the Sheep creek intake, where the water is alleged to have been escaping all winter on account of the Hydro's plant. No water was being wasted yesterday, but Mr. Fertig, Mr. Kent and others tried to ascertain if the city's pipes below the Hydro plant were full when the water was running out. W. Harris, caretaker for the Hydro company, claimed that the pipes were full, while the city's caretakers were equally as certain that they were not. The rival caretakers then began paying each other doubtful compliments and the affair was reaching a climax when Alderman Verner informed them that the business men had not come up to the intakes to see a fight, but to find out the facts as they exist.

On account of the wide difference of opinion expressed by the employes of the city and the Hydro company on a number of matters, the business men returned to Manitou with the question of who is at fault in the trouble still unsettled. They saw water being wasted yesterday, but were not able to definitely settle whether the waste is necessary or whether this wasted water could be taken into the city's pipes if the Hydro plant did not interfere.

After they reached Manitou the business men went through the Hydro power plant as guests of Mr. Taff.

Although they will not announce their intentions, it is probable that the business organizations represented yesterday will meet either today or tomorrow to hear the reports of their committees, and to advise the city council as to what action they deem proper in order to end the fight. The spirit of settling the trouble out of the courts if possible seems uppermost in the minds of the merchants and property owners, but they are firmly determined that the city must get a square deal from the power company.

BOUND OVER

GLASSER PLEADS GUILTY TO THEFT OF WATCH—TELLS STRANGE STORY.

Arthur Glasser, arraigned in Magistrate Ruby's court yesterday for the theft of a lady's gold watch from the Alamo hotel last Monday night, pleaded guilty and was bound over to the next term of the district court in the sum of $700.

Glasser claims to be a man of parts, having been educated for the bar. Leaving a wife at Chicago, where he had become involved, he came west for a new and better start. Being destitute, he applied and was given employment at the Alamo hotel as porter a few days ago. It was while in this capacity that he confiscated the watch which proved his undoing.

While on the stand in court he confessed his guilt, but said the destitute circumstances of his wife at Chicago had led him to commit the deed.

According to his story, he comes of a good family in the east, and he claims to have a brother who will be graduated this year from Yale.

The watch was the property of G. Edward Slack. It was expensively made and set in the back with a solitaire diamond.

Private George Zehner, of Company A, was awarded the gold medal offered by the officers of the High school battalion for the best drilled private yesterday afternoon. Private Harball of Company B received the second medal. At the drill yesterday afternoon, which was judged by G. W. Curtis, Harball won first and Zehner second. The standing then was—Zehner one first and three seconds, Harball two firsts, Wiley two firsts. In the final drill Harball defeated Wiley and secured second place.

The sword offered for the captain of the company winning the greatest number of drills out of five contests will be awarded to Captain Hubert Perry, of Company B. Only two company drills have been held, but the prize will go to Perry, as his company has won both of them, and it is too late to hold any others. Perry is president of the class of '06.

STREET RAILWAY FARES.

TO HEAR the attorneys for the Colorado Springs and Interurban Railway company assert with a show of seriousness his belief that a five cent fare on the Manitou and Canon lines would result in a receivership for the company is enough to bring an incredulous smile to the face of anybody who has spent a summer here and observed the extent of the business done on these lines. Yet this is the opinion expressed by Mr Henry McAllister Jr at the Council meeting last Monday night when the proposed new franchise was under discussion. Mr McAllister ought to have known what he was talking about and perhaps he did but until his opinion is strengthened by facts and figures as to the earnings and profits of the company and the proportion which the extra fare contributes to them it is not likely to be shared by any considerable portion of the public

Considered purely as a business proposition we believe that it would pay the street railway company to grant a five cent fare to Manitou and the Canons during the summer months. Although this concession ought not to be granted until October 1st, it is during the summer that the heavy business comes during those summer months and it could be immeasurably increased if the lower fare prevailed. There are thousands of people in Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou not to speak of the tourists who would gladly visit the Canons or the extremities of the Manitou lines several times a week but who can not do so because of the expense. Suppose a parent wants to take his family of four to the Canons. The fare for the round trip from Colorado Springs amounts to eighty cents or if two of them happen to be little children who ride on half fare tickets sixty cents. The family man whose income is limited cannot afford this luxury very often but he is just the one to feel the need of recreation for himself and family.

When considering the question of the profitableness that would result from a reduction of fares, it is well to remember how the [illegible] increased immediately after W S Stratton [illegible] extended the system. Mr McAllister told the council Monday night that Mr Stratton made an investment of $2,000,000 in [illegible]. It was a large investment and in [illegible] it was regarded as decidedly risky and unbusinesslike but just the same the company is and for several years has been paying dividends. Why? Simply because good service was afforded. In the old days people patronized street cars as a rule only to get to and from their homes. There was comparatively little riding for pleasure because the cars were small and uncomfortable and the passenger could not ride very far without being shaken up in a decidedly disagreeable way. Stratton provided big, comfortable cars and a smooth track and he also provided a park where the people might enjoy themselves. It was for these and similar improvements that his $2,000,000 was spent. The people responded with liberal patronage and the line has paid well ever since. The population is not very much greater than it was then, perhaps at a liberal estimate there are 5,000 to 7,000 more people in the three cities now than in 1900 so by far the greater part of the new business must be attributed to increased patronage from the people already here rather than to an increase in population

This has been the history of street railways in nearly every city in the land. Wherever the companies make their lines attractive by low rates and superior service the business immediately increases regardless of increased population. This is in accord with the rule that prevails in all lines of business, by which the hustling wide-awake merchant who makes his store attractive does more business than his old-fogy competitor who is at no pains to please customers.

If W S Stratton could spend $2,000,000 improving his street railway system and make it pay dividends on the investment the administrators of his estate certainly can earn larger dividends by reducing the fare to five cents for this concession would attract fully as much new business as was attracted by the improvements. The company probably reasons that under the present system the cars are crowded to their utmost capacity at summer [illegible] and conductors are kept on the jump every minute collecting fares so it could not be any better off than it is now. But with a single fare many more people could be carried merely by increasing the number of cars in use

The question of single fares to Manitou and the Canons in summer is by no means contingent on the granting of the proposed new franchise. Whether that instrument is granted or not the public is entitled to the one-fare rate and ought to have it. But it appears that the company is quite independent in its position on the franchise question. Last Saturday Mr McAllister its attorney was quoted in the evening paper as saying in regard to the omission of the street sprinkling clause. "If the company does not state in the ordinance that it agrees to maintain an electric street sprinkler or mention specifically that the city's sprinkler could be run over those lines I think that the company will give the new lines the same service that is maintained on its other lines. Just why the company did not [illegible] tion that provision in the ordinance I can not state. I give up the ordinance as instructed"

[illegible] Mr McAllister addressed the Council on Monday night just two days later he expressed an entirely different attitude on the part of the company. He said that the sprinkling clause was intentionally omitted from the proposed ordinance, and also from the Costilla street ordinance because the streets traversed by these lines are so hilly that a sprinkling car in daily use would wear out the tracks in a short time. If the company couldn't get the new franchise with out the sprinkling provision it didn't want it at all, putting it the franchise [illegible] provision [illegible] to the city. [illegible] the fact that the Council had the ordinance [illegible] until another meeting instead of [illegible] it to the [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] of the company for this franchise

Unquestionably the construction of [illegible] would be a good thing for the East Side, [illegible] the street railway company is so very [illegible] [illegible] further. We are not [illegible] that [illegible] contemplated [illegible] the property as a [illegible] of philanthropy, and if the franchise is worth securing it is worth paying for at least [illegible] the sprinkling provision. Mr McAllister's remarks [illegible] that the company would [illegible] very much to be urged. Whether this is the case or the people of Colorado Springs [illegible] [illegible] this [illegible] its own [illegible] which [illegible] very valuable and neither [illegible] the Council [illegible] to stultify itself by doing anything of the kind. A franchise is a public service [illegible] and if the [illegible] wants the franchise it ought to pay something [illegible] such as is asked [illegible].

A PARDON FOR ASMUSSEN.

IT IS [illegible] that Gov [illegible] M D [illegible] said his secretary [illegible] H Asmussen the Cripple Creek saloon keeper who was sentenced to serve six months [illegible] for violating the Sunday closing law. He [illegible] has served only two months of his term and [illegible] after giving his promise to [illegible]. If his promise is not worth any more now than it was a [illegible] earlier in the year the Asmussen [illegible] will soon be running [illegible] blast on Sunday behind closed doors with curtains tightly drawn

[illegible] this case made it particularly desirable that executive clemency be flatly [illegible] refused. Asmussen belongs to that [illegible] sellers [illegible] so well known in [illegible] Springs as well as in the Cripple Creek [illegible] [illegible] the laws made to regulate their business. When a Sunday closing law was passed in the district he showed his contempt for it by keeping his saloon open on Sunday. He was arrested but the case was [illegible]. He repeated the offense was arrested again plead guilty and was fined $100 and sentenced to six months in jail. He paid the fine and the jail sentence was remitted whereupon he proceeded to open his saloon on Sunday again. He was arrested for the third time tried before District Judge Seeds convicted, and sentenced to pay a fine of $[illegible] and serve six months in jail

[illegible] a little more than two [illegible] [illegible] then Asmussen's friends have exerted every effort to secure a pardon for him. It [illegible] that a [illegible] is a saloon keeper [illegible] who know [illegible] McDonald [illegible] [illegible] law breaker and [illegible] [illegible] after receiving Asmussen's [illegible]

It is hard to see what the governor's action is justified. When a man wilfully and persistently defies a law he [illegible] law breaker and [illegible] treated as such whether he [illegible] a tramp or the richest booze merchant in [illegible]. He deserves the full penalty provided by law and if he doesn't get it justice is [illegible]. [illegible] Asmussen were a darky chicken thief who had been sent to jail for six months after committing his third offense not [illegible] would have [illegible] a pardon for him and the Governor probably would not have shown the slightest interest in his welfare [illegible] minds [illegible] [illegible] does pretty much as he pleases [illegible] the law which [illegible] the rest of the time. All of which is [illegible] the best thing in the world [illegible] respect for law.

Open Parliament

THE STREET RAILWAY QUESTION

To the Editor of The Gazette

At the council meeting Monday [illegible] for the street railway company [illegible] fully the present franchise issue [illegible] tion's side [illegible] tation of the matter from [illegible] the Real Estate [illegible] not given. Aside from the [illegible] zens protesting against the gift of the franchise in the form proposed there was no expression [illegible] matter from [illegible] citizens who [illegible] at heart. In [illegible] tention to some [illegible] Mr McAllister [illegible] Monday evening

He ventured to assert that a five cent fare would reduce the company's revenue a third and force it into bankruptcy. This bold assertion was absolutely unsupported by figures or facts and was on its face absurd. The writer could with equal confidence assert that a five cent fare will prove a source of vastly increased income to the company. Personally he knows any number of families who seldom if ever go to the canons for on account of the large hole such an excursion would eat in the family income

It is no exaggeration to say that thousands of those who now indulge [illegible] the suburbs would go twice or three times as often if there were five cent fares. This applies not only to the throngs of summer tourists but to our own people as well. Enjoying as we do a climate that makes winter outings so pleasant and an ever increasing tendency towards outdoor recreation [illegible] would be only a short time if we had five cent fares to the happy day when all our people would use freely their heritage of natural beauty

Upon an investigation by the city [illegible] the present income of the street railway [illegible] it would be possible to discuss the matter with more intelligence than is at present possible. As to the franchise contract we should know at this moment the financial condition of the company, its present income and especially the rate at which that income is yearly increasing. The [illegible] and difficulty is always that the city council in these franchise matters will not act with the completest understanding of all the facts. It would be vastly amusing if it were not so humiliating to see repeated so often [illegible] city council [illegible] ing without question [illegible] of any franchise matter on the say-so of the party seeking the franchise. Is it not time that our city looked into the value of its gifts to corporations with the same care as do those corporations? The crux of this whole matter is not the granting of this particular franchise. It involves far more. It is a question of good citizenship demanding the active interest of every resident to the end that in [illegible] our council shall do so with the keenest [illegible] and preparation

If in any instance the city in granting a franchise fails to secure for itself a payment of some kind it acts contrary to the fundamental principle of all contracts. Have we had enough of this [illegible] [illegible] which result in the city receiving for its reward a pleasant smile and other equally valuable considerations

I trust The Gazette will continue its campaign of education until no man can fail to realize the whole issue involved and until no council shall dare to give away our property for the mere asking

KILL THE WEEDS.

To the Editor of The Gazette

Now is the time to begin killing the weeds. An average of five minutes per day spent in front of an ordinary sized lot will be sufficient to [illegible] growth. The weeds are tender [illegible] very easily removed with a hoe. Later they will be tough and hard to cut even with sharp instruments

Once get the weeds removed and it will require almost no time to keep them down. Aside from the satisfaction afforded it is worth a great deal to any property to have the street clean in front. Such clean lawns make Colorado Springs more beautiful gives the tourist a better opinion of our city and makes our properties more attractive to investors

It this season of all the year when we expect so many visitors it is imperative that we put our best foot forward

Is Extreme Luxury Carrying Us Into Decadence?

THE TRUE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE MAD RUSH TO SPEND MONEY EASILY ACQUIRED

From the [illegible] North American

Nero fiddled while Rome burned. Are civilized people today dropping into decadence as they thoughtlessly follow the ignis fatuus of fashion and luxurious living

Is vast wealth and the waste of its use undermining social stability and national progress? Are the artificial castes being created and to result in disaster for a nation in true to its highest ideals when dollar hag-ling shoulders [illegible] aside and dollar getting engages attention to the exclusion of civic pride and virtue

Many thoughtful observers of the trend of events answer the first three of these questions in the affirmative. Luxury is killing the virility of mankind is a warning that does not come [illegible] socialists alone but [illegible] [illegible] philosophical students of present conditions

It is not so much, for instance, that Americans spend yearly $[illegible] a year for the purchase of automobiles that a family in Newport society cannot get along on less than $1,000 a day [illegible] that $[illegible] is spent upon a single ball. The listening [illegible] said to have been the cost of a Newport [illegible] while fashionable functions there frequently demand the expenditure of $10,000 or $12,000

[illegible] season New York alone spends in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 a night for after theater suppers. Wealthy men have been known to furnish their palatial homes at a cost of $1,000,000. One of them paid $[illegible] for three tapestries to hang upon his walls. America imports something like $[illegible] worth of diamonds and other precious stones annually

Not long ago one New York [illegible] found little difficulty in securing a purchaser for a single ruby at $[illegible]

The question that arises is. Do modern extravagance and luxury tend to the deterioration of the individual? For, when the individual deteriorates society in general strikes the sliding scale that has its end in decadence

Alarms heralding the decline of national virility have been sounded frequently of late and [illegible] more or less attention. One of the latest is that trumpeted by the British Medical Journal a paper which reflects broadly expressing the highest professional views of Europe [illegible] other

There is [illegible] states this paper in a recent issue upon which few [illegible] serious one. The problems of physical deterioration and the regeneration of [illegible] [illegible] drawing rooms as on the platform. We [illegible] profess to be anxious about posterity but the truth is we have somewhat suddenly awaked to the fact that physical degeneracy means danger to the nation in the present as well as in the future. It may perhaps be doubtful if physical deterioration [illegible] [illegible] tested by measurement [illegible] widespread but there can be no doubt that it is an evil which [illegible] more and more threatening

Waning in Power

[illegible] vast and growing anxieties [illegible] the wealth of [illegible] [illegible] Rome [illegible]

The history of recent wars has shown that in the qualities of [illegible] [illegible] power we are [illegible] probably inferior to the men who fought under Nelson and Wellington. This is the inevitable result of the more luxurious habits and finer sensibilities which the advance of civilization brings in its train. To many observers our people seem to present many of the social features which marked the beginning of the decay of Rome. Now as then luxury and effeminacy have taken the place of the robust if coarse virility of an older time. The ravening passion for advertisement by crime if it can be had in no other way, the love of public ways which public manners breed, the court paid by society to mimes and mummers, the fierce rage for gambling and the sacrifice of every duty to pleasure, the vulgar display of wealth and the cynical indifference to anything that cannot be estimated in terms of money which are among the [illegible] of modern society recall to some [illegible] the time when Nero, the real originator of the doctrine of art for art's sake burnt Rome to make a grand spectacular display representing the downfall of Troy town. The vitality of the nation which is something altogether different from the vitality of the individuals composing it, is being sapped by these causes and by others that need not be named"

Continuing its analysis the medical paper asks

Is this an inevitable fate that overtakes all nations as the end of their natural term of life? Or it is an evil against which we may strive with hope of success? It is demonstrable, says Dr T H Hyslop "that our acquisitions and attainments derived as they are from the artifices of civilization, are not only impediments to true mental evolution, but tend to submerge and render less vital the human mental faculties

"Civilization brings with it evils which render decay inevitable. Like other nations which have lived and died we have known freedom and glory. Wealth vice corruption and barbarism are but the sequels. The strength and greatness of a nation do not lie in the sinews of its people, nor in the moneybags of its traders nor in the glibness of its orators' but in the devotion of its citizens to a lofty ideal of public and private duty in their love for all that is true and good and beautiful and in their hatred for all that is false evil mean and ugly in their strenuous pursuit of knowledge and their readiness to apply it to the [illegible]

A RULE THAT WORKS BOTH WAYS

From the Kansas City Star

It would seem that the big shippers of Pennsylvania—at least some of the coal operators of that state—have been obliged to return the favor to the railroads. According to testimony before the interstate commerce commission some of these operators have had to give money or stock to railway officials in order to get cars to handle their business. If this is true, then the shippers are giving back in part, at least the concessions they have received in the form of rebates from the railroads. It would seem to be a quite equitable system. You give us rebates and we will give you our business. You show us preference in keeping us supplied with cars and we will give you stock in our companies

THE MIRTH-PROVOKING PHONOGRAPH AND THE ENVIOUS DAWN

From the Cascade (Ia) Pioneer

One of the most delightful events of the season was the excursion to the home of Miss Katie Arthur, at McElroy. By the cheerful fire the phonograph repeated in song many tales of love and valor in its characteristic mirth-provoking way. While Miss Birdie Devaney assisted by John McGrath rendered delightful music for the lovers of the dance. The guests were treated in a royal manner and enjoyed themselves exceedingly. With heartfelt gratitude toward their host and hostess they turned homeward when the envious dawn was breaking through the clouds in the golden [illegible].

and piles of brick and plaster and working steadily while the city was being shaken by dynamite and by the [illegible] earthquakes which followed the first heavy shock. No nurses on the battlefield ever showed more courage or more loyalty than these young women who helped to reorganize and resume business in the plant which had been saved by the male employes

The resumption of business was naturally attended with great difficulty. Ordinary means of communication were at a standstill and it was necessary to establish what was practically a private ferry service across the bay to Oakland. Supplies were coming in rapidly from Los Angeles and from the east. A skating rink at Oakland was converted into a general warehouse and a printing office was taken over from top to bottom and given the work of furnishing circulars and stationery. Automobiles were pressed into service [illegible] city employes and supplies and all the while the telephone line running from the Frisco plant to the West exchange kept the hard pressed men in the midst of the ruins in touch through the long distance lines with Los Angeles and other important points. At the same time the company fed and housed in these days of emergency 150 people. The beds were made of excelsior burlap and old blankets and every one had hot and substantial meals regularly. Food supplies were obtained for the asking simply and by sending automobiles to the nearest relief station

This is only one of the many stories that are beginning to come from the wrecked metropolis of the Pacific coast. But it is one of the most remarkable particularly as an illustration of what can be done when all those concerned in an enterprise pull together

WHAT HARRY JEFFS DID

From the San Francisco Chronicle

For the first time in its history San Francisco was absolutely without telegraphic communication with the outside world for three hours on the morning of April 18. Following the earthquake which occurred at 5 12 [illegible] and for three hours thereafter, not a single wire of the score or more usually in operation was in service and the busy click of the sending instruments was stilled. Ceaselessly through every hour of the day and night messages are speeding to the most remote sections of the globe and to have the busy workings of the tickers stopped for a minute is an event in telegraphic history

Quick to realize the havoc which could be wrought by so mighty a trembler as that which preceded the big fire Harry Jeffs chief of the Western Union Telegraph company who lives in Oakland lost no time in reaching the mole for the purpose of testing the scores of wires which emerge from the water at that point. It took the expert but a few moments to ascertain that communication in San Francisco beyond the ferry building was entirely cut off. Not an instrument responded to his efforts. Turning his attention to the wires extending from the end of the pier to the various stations leading out of the state Jeffs found that they had been hopelessly killed by the great shake

The seriousness of the situation demanded quick action for aside from the great monetary loss to the company resulting from even a short interruption of the service, was the seriousness of being cut off from the outside world. Securing an engine the wire chief started out from the mole and climbing poles at intervals along the way tested the wires to locate the break. In this way he covered the entire pier until he reached the shore at West Oakland. Here at a pole almost at Land's End after calling on each dead wire separately he at last received a response from Sacramento and knew that he had at last found the point of severed communication

Perched upon a thirty foot pole Jeffs gave to the capital the first story of the disaster sent out by wire at 8 30 o clock in the morning. In quick succession, by means of relays Los Angeles Salt Lake Denver and other places heard of the calamity that had befallen the metropolis of the Pacific coast. For eighteen hours Jeffs stuck to his lofty perch trying with the patience of Job to straighten the tangle in the mass of wires with a small set of testing instruments he had obtained at the pier. This was a heroic task for the mighty sway of the trembler had brought the wires together tying them up in great confusion.

By Wednesday the break between the pole at Land's End, West Oakland, and the pier had been closed, with one through wire. The following day Thursday three more wires were restored, and on Friday eighteen were in full operation from the pole at which the break was first located. This did not mean the restoration of the Western Union's service by any means, for with the burning of the company's building in this city all its instruments, batteries and appurtenances were lost, and the company was therefore as badly off as if the wires had not been restored. From his operating office on the pole, however, Jeffs was instructed to call upon all the near-by towns and cities to rush instruments that could be spared to this city

[illegible] and orders were filled as soon as received. Owing to this the work of caring for the sufferers continued uninterruptedly

The women were as brave as the men during the strenuous days immediately following the fire. Clerks and stenographers reported as promptly and punctually as the electricians though no one who was not in San Francisco at that time can begin to realize the pluck shown by those girls who walked two or three miles every day from their temporary homes to the office making their way over disordered pavements

STRIKES THE RICHEST OIL POOL OF THE OSAGES

Following the usual success and good fortune that have been with this great independent enterprise from the start, Uncle Sam drillers have completed two more mammoth fortune makers during the past week. No. 13 was finished last Tuesday, and the first day's flow is estimated between 400 to 700 barrels, while undoubtedly No. 14, which the drillers are now working hard to get under control, is one of the very largest producers yet discovered in Indian Territory oil fields, and is estimated by conservative oil men as better than 2,000 barrels the first day. As the Uncle Sam drills move westward larger oil wells are being secured and drillers from offsets Nos. 13 and 14 will soon move to locations Nos. 15 and 16, and continue further rapid development, and may soon secure the main pool, in which event you would see their stock go to several dollars per share. Can you afford to delay your investment under these favorable conditions?

Furnace fires will be lighted under the great river refinery July 4. Thousands of Uncle Sam stockholders and their friends will [illegible] Atchison on that day. 380-ton, three-decked Mississippi river steamer will [illegible] half hour trips from Atchison city proper to Uncle Sam refinery grounds. [illegible] with the main trunk river pipe line and barge [illegible] be able to block the railroad oil trust criminal rebate deals, come to Atchison [illegible] July 4 and you will see a practical illustration of what can be done. Uncle Sam [illegible] every promise and the stock offered herein [illegible] are to [illegible] to increase in solid value to $1.00 per share as you are [illegible] too high. When completed, this company [illegible] the pipe line and barge system, which alone will [illegible] yearly on the very stock you can now purchase at [illegible] cents per share.

Remittances for refined oil and stock for the week ending June 2 are $23,488. [illegible] inquiries for stock are coming from everywhere and thousands of Uncle Sam stockholders are doubling and trebling their investments. Over one-quarter million dollars has been subscribed for 20-cent refinery stock, and with all the addition of development the stock is being rapidly sold. The facts are that stock in The Uncle Sam Oil Company of Kansas is the greatest investment offered the American public. Earning capacity of refineries will be increased nearly tenfold on an average for the next six months, and will be continually increased [illegible] up to eighteen thousand barrels daily. If a safe investment and dividend [illegible] you want, better join our band, now over eight thousand strong, and help to grander success the only formidable foe to oil trust oppression west of the Allegheny mountains.

DIVIDENDS COMMENCE THIS MONTH

Meeting With Grand Success.

Every day finds the Uncle Sam Oil company that much further advanced in the great work of completing a chain of three refineries and main trunk river pipe line.

River Refinery Starts July 4.

On the 4th day of next month the largest independent refinery ever built in the West will commence turning out refined oil. This plant has been built so that it can easily be enlarged to 5,000 barrels per day. Situated on the banks of navigation it will be forever free and independent of the brigade of cutthroats who manipulate the oil trust and the railroads and generally strangle the Kansas refiners. However the Uncle Sam company has gone in to win and win they will, for with the main trunk line now building and barges on the Missouri we can deliver Uncle Sam oil from Kansas Territory oil fields to Omaha, Council Bluffs and Sioux City at a saving of over [illegible] cents per barrel, which alone will pay handsome dividends on Uncle Sam stock. Figure for yourself what the saving will be on over 1,000 barrels per day at [illegible] cents each and it will convince you what a fortune making stock you are offered herein.

Big Steamer Will Navigate the Missouri at Atchison July 4.

For years the railroads and the oil trust, working together, have tried to discourage and kill all water transportation but the business men of the Missouri valley are waking up and it will be but a question of time until the great Uncle Sam river refinery will be the center of navigation on the Missouri. Come to Atchison and see for yourself July 4, and also see the great river plant which the oil trust knockers said Uncle Sam would never build. However, would advise you to secure your stock at once.

Proof That the Uncle Sam Operations Are Practical.

There is a great demand for oil in Nebraska, Iowa, the Dakotas and Minnesota, while in Omaha alone a great amount of oil can be sold. The oil trust railroads ask the prohibitive price of $7.40 per barrel to carry barreled oil in carload lots from Cherryvale to Omaha. When completed the Uncle Sam company can pump oil over pipe line from Cherryvale to Atchison for not to exceed 8 cents per barrel and can barge it up the Missouri river for not to exceed 10 cents per barrel or easily save over $7.00 per barrel, however, to be absolutely sure, we figure on a saving of only 5 cents per barrel. From the Neosho county oil fields the Uncle Sam main trunk pipe line will have a capacity of over 1,000 barrels daily by doubling up pumping stations. However, suppose the company works up to a capacity of only 2,000 three thousand barrels daily; figure for yourself what $2.750 net gain per day on freight alone and you will realize that dividends on Uncle Sam stock is not a dream but a reality. $2,750 per day for over 300 days out of the year totals a little over $825,000 [illegible] for the stock now selling at 20 cents per share. Then remember that 30 miles to the south the Uncle Sam flag will be found flying on the banks of the Arkansas at Tulsa, I. T., where refinery No. [illegible] now being built.

Refined Oil Line to Fort Smith.

Give the Uncle Sam Oil Company a little more time and it will be in a position to [illegible] the West where it will give the oil trust with all the trust's dirty pullings a run for their money. Remember when this is completed Uncle Sam will be handling at least eighteen thousand barrels daily and will have a refined oil line leading from a ten-thousand barrel refinery at Tulsa to Fort Smith and then have a crude oil line from the Indian Territory clear across Kansas to the big river refinery on the banks of the Missouri by Atchison.

Nearly One Hundred Miles of Pipe Line Now on the Grounds.

Eighty-seven miles of this pipe line is now shipped or on the grounds and sixteen miles more will be shipped next week and forty-two miles more will follow ten days later. As before stated Uncle Sam is doing things. As fast as the management can raise the money just that fast will work go forward. If you send in $1,000 or one thousand dollars after reading this announcement it will be quickly laid on pipe line equipment and the very stock you buy made more valuable. 137 miles of main trunk pipe line and five pumping stations will be completed in less than 80 days. The company has the right of way all secured.

First Independent Company to Secure Pipe Line Permit in Indian Territory.

The Uncle Sam Company is making a straightforward fight for success. When it says it will do a thing it starts to work. About 90 days ago a pipe line permit was petitioned for from the interior department and the day it was granted first shipment of pipe was commenced. [illegible] fields oil report [illegible] Cherryvale refinery over two [illegible] The interstate commerce commission [illegible] valuable information in the [illegible] pipe line enterprise. Uncle Sam [illegible] independent from [illegible] never misses a chance to forward [illegible] interests at a square deal in the oil business. If you wish to aid the cause of right by considering our pipe line and at the same time secure a money making investment.

Will Buy Thousands of Barrels of Independent Oil.

While the Uncle Sam Company will have a great production from its own controlled wells it will buy thousands of barrels from independent producers [illegible] the Kansas and Territory oil fields. For over 100 miles the main trunk pipe line will extend [illegible] oil fields. At this very time Uncle Sam man is making arrangements [illegible] the oil from producers [illegible] whom the oil trust has kept on the black list from the start. Uncle Sam Company is manned by Kansans who are working with might and main to build up their enterprise to where it can protect our home oil fields and those of our neighbors from confiscation by the New York oil trust anarchists who have been practically stealing Kansas oil at the beggarly sum of 50 cents per barrel while every barrel of it has brought the trust not less than $4. Still there is a Topeka, Kas., press agent and another at Independence who is out for boodle and a few bribed newspapers in Kansas and other hirelings that assume thinking make the people believe their oil trust knocking lies on Uncle Sam especially ordered by the political railroad fixers who are just now co-operating as Republicans in Kansas when in reality they are traitors to true Republicanism and enemies to Kansas home institutions. Better get on the right side in the oil fight by joining our band today, now over 8,000 strong.

Earning Capacity Will Be Increased Tenfold July 4.

With the opening of the Uncle Sam refinery No. 2 at Atchison July 4 will increase the earning capacity for the next six months over the last six months nearly tenfold. Then a few weeks later Uncle Sam refinery No. 3 will be opened at Tulsa, Indian Territory. This will build our refining capacity up to FIFTEEN HUNDRED barrels per day. By the time the production from our own wells [illegible] be over 2,000 barrels per day [illegible] sixty days more time [illegible] of Tulsa plants can [illegible] barrels each or a total of [illegible] refineries of 2,100 barrels daily. [illegible] see the Uncle Sam company will [illegible] great money maker and continue to grow. Don't you believe it would be the best thing you can do to secure some of the stock now at a price that [illegible] of [illegible] good? $200 [illegible] stock will [illegible] 1,000 shares.

Dividend Book Will Be Closed on the 20th of This Month

The first dividend on Uncle Sam stock will be declared this month and will be mailed to every stockholder of record [illegible]. With the earning capacity of the company increased tenfold [illegible] matter to greatly increase the next dividend. The time for you to secure stock is right now, for if you do not until after the 20th you will not receive this dividend, and the chances are the stock will be greatly increased between June [illegible] and the opening of the big river refinery on July 4.

The Week's Remittances for Oil and Stock Totals $23,488.

That this stock is in demand and certain to be all sold during the next few days can be proven by the books of the company, and especially the returns for the past week, which have been coming from $2,000 to $7,500 daily. Where can you buy as active a stock as this backed with anything like the development at 20 per cent of its par value?

Two More Fortune-Makers Nearly Completed.

When you stop to consider that a barrel of 32 gravity oil run through our refineries will bring Uncle Sam over $4 per barrel, you will agree that offsetting big oilers like Nos. 13 and 14 just drilled in the eleven hundred-acre lot 41 are fortune makers in fact as well as name. Nearly 50 feet of rich pay dirt was secured in No. 13, which commenced flowing out of the casing soon after the shot, and is estimated by conservative oil men from 400 to 700 barrels per day. One day later the drill at No. 14 struck the oil and when completed showed 60 feet of pay dirt. This well is in the deep sand down over 1,000 feet. This shows a gain over the last well in this sand of nearly 10 per cent in pay dirt, with 120 feet of sand. This conclusively indicates that the pay oil sand is increasing westward, and Uncle Sam now has two miles straight west on this one property. Four two-inch pipes are now carrying the first inrush of oil into the storage tanks and the drillers during the next three days will probably get this mammoth oiler under absolute control. That it is a big oiler among big oilers you would readily admit by spending a few minutes at the well. It is the largest oiler ever completed in that part of the field, so [illegible] with the [illegible] gold that at [illegible] feet of the [illegible] sand will be found at a nearby location to contain oil, in which event you will see this stock greatly advanced or withdrawn from the market.

Fifty More Distributing Stations.

At least fifty more distributing stations will be installed in that many more trade centers in the Missouri Valley states during the next sixty days. These stations will be located where Uncle Sam stockholders are thickest and where Uncle Sam sympathizers are thicker than Democrats in Arkansas. The company has had no trouble to dispose of all the oil it has manufactured from the Cherryvale plant No. 1 at the distributing stations now completed, while there are 500 more places just as good. So what the company has already covered, so we will have no trouble to sell all the increased output at good prices, with a fair profit.

Bound to Make a Pile of Money.

Consider this enterprise from every standpoint and you will have to admit that under any conditions it is certain to make a great amount of money. With the river refinery in operation, commencing July 4, the net income daily for oil should total close to $3,000 daily. Now, remember under the capacity by that time the Uncle Sam company may be able to furnish all from its own production. Suppose you could deliver off your farm or out of your place of business products that would bring you $2,000 per day, would you not place a pretty high value on your property? Another fact to be remembered is that the cost to market this product outside of freights is very small. After the refineries and pipe lines are completed it will not take over ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY men to handle the output of 2,700 barrels daily. We are anxious to secure money to place the company where it will have advantages second to none and, like every great enterprise, must give investors a good deal to secure necessary capital.

Don't Delay Your Remittance.

The company is in telegraph communication with nearly one thousand picked investors in the United States. We reach fifteen thousand men by special weekly reports. The company has secured very low advertising rates from 143 leading newspapers in United States and Canada, the majority of which are very friendly for the Uncle Sam success. This announcement will appear in all of this list of 143 papers, whose readers total nearly twenty millions. So you can understand that the proposition is prominently before the reading public. Hundreds of thousands of people will read this the same time you do. The wire will be ticking orders for stock while you are hesitating or acting. The company hopes to raise $100,000 during the next two weeks. Over one-tenth of the stock is yet unsold, so that with the balance of the stock placed the company can complete its great work. There are over 200 stockholders in New York; over 50 in Florida, also Oregon and Washington and Canada. No matter where you live your dollar will buy just as much pipe line as any other and you can depend on your investment being protected.

Write or Wire for Particulars and Pictures.

This company has just what it advertises. In the different departments at the refinery, on the pipe line, in the oil fields and at the different distributing stations over one hundred men are crowding the great work of the company on to success. We have about eighty pictures taken from real life in the different departments showing part of the great work; also more complete reports. We will be glad to mail them to any investor in the United States or any foreign country, and any other information desired. We stand ready to prove any statement made herein and solicit your investment in this stock in good faith and will see that you get a square deal in fact as well as words. The company will not sell over thirty thousand shares to any one man, and reserves the right to reject any offer by returning the remittance. Would rather have five men subscribe $200 each than one man $1,000, for this company is a common man's organization and wants as large a number of stockholders among the middle class as possible.

BALDERSTON GETS FOUR-OUNCE ORE

FROM EIGHTEEN-INCH VEIN ON THE PIKE'S PEAK CLAIM—STRIKE ON MINERAL ROCK.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 6.—Balderston & Co., who are working at a depth of 300 feet on the Pike's Peak claim of the Stratton estate, have eighteen inches of ore that is giving values of three to four ounces in carload lots. Some very fine ore is being shipped from the dump. Balderston is installing air and will increase the tonnage materially.

At a depth of 150 feet on the Mineral Rock claim of the Stratton estate lessees have opened sixteen inches of ore that is giving returns of three ounces. The values are increasing as development proceeds.

HOBBS SURRENDERS HIS LEASE ON MONTE CRISTO

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 6.—The lease of Hobbs and associates on the Monte Cristo claim of the Magnet Rock company, on Beacon hill, has been shut down, and it is understood will not again be operated by these lessees. Considerable good ore was found in this ground, which lies like a wedge between the main El Paso workings and the Beacon-Hill Ajax of that property. Several good ore shoots crossed the narrow dimensions of the claim, but they are nearly worked out. Effort to sell the claim to the El Paso company fell through some time ago, but it is understood that a new set of lessees is willing to try its luck on the property.

AN ALARMING SITUATION

frequently results from neglect of clogged bowels and torpid liver, until constipation becomes chronic. This condition is unknown to those who use Dr. King's New Life Pills; the best and gentlest regulators of Stomach and Bowels. Guaranteed by the Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co. Price 25c.

GLENN AND GRAY OPEN RICHES IN LITTLE JOE

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 6.—Lee Glenn and Dan Gray, who took a lease on the north end of the Little Joe claim of the Alert company on Ironclad hill two weeks ago, have made a good strike at a depth of twenty-five feet, where they have opened up eighteen inches of ore that will run between two and three ounces. They probably will go over into the Harrison and Crump shaft, which is down 100 feet, and crosscut for this vein.

BONANZA ORE IN BULLFROG WEST

SAMPLES ARE COVERED WITH BLOTCHES OF GOLD AND VALUES RUN INTO THE THOUSANDS.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., June 6.—The Bullfrog West Extension is hoisting some of the "bonanziest" ore ever encountered in the district. The incident recalls the palmy days of the Original, for the ore is exactly the same and equally as rich as any of the way-up stuff taken out of the first mine in the camp.

Samples of the ore are literally alive with blotches and specks of gold, indicating values up into the thousands of dollars to the ton. The ore has the characteristic blue, green and flouine coloring of the Original.

The ore is being taken out of the drift, which is being run from the seventy-foot level. The drift has been extended about seventy-five feet and there are perhaps ten tons of ore on the dump that will pay to ship. Not all of the ore is as rich as that encountered this week, but the shoot is extensive and averages well and even should the values go down a substantial producer will be developed.

NEW ORE SHOOT FOUND ON THE WORLD'S FAIR

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 6.—Peter Anderson, who is subleasing on the World's Fair of the Gold Bond company on the west slope of Gold Hill, has opened up a new ore shoot. He found it practically at the surface and has sunk on it for sixty feet. At this point he drifted twenty-five feet on three feet of ore, which gives returns of two ounces in gold to the ton. Anderson will sink to the 100-foot point.

MORRIS AND ASSOCIATES LEASE B.-H. AJAX DUMP

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 6.—The dump of the Beacon-Hill Ajax lease of Lambright and associates has been leased to Morris and associates, who have installed a washer and are building another at the dump. Some good rock is being saved, and the showing indicates a nice profit for the lessees. The ore from this lease has run between three and four ounces in carload lots, and much of it necessarily went over the dump despite the vigilance of the sorters.

TO ESTABLISH TEMPORARY LETTER CARRIERS HOME

Before long Colorado Springs will have a temporary home for the members of the National Letter Carriers association. It is the plan of Brooks Irione, secretary and treasurer of the association, to establish a temporary home on the lot owned by the association at 209 North Weber street. If this proves a success, the construction of the permanent home for the National Letter Carriers association will follow.

Mr. Irione recently addressed a meeting of the carriers in San Francisco, advocating the location of the home in Colorado Springs.

TOM MOORE TO HAVE NEW MILL

NEW PLANT TO BE IN OPERATION BY OCTOBER—MEARS TO BUILD BIG SNOW-SHEDS.

SILVERTON, Colo., June 6.—There have been two happenings in the past week to make the people of this section sit up and take notice.

The first was the declaration of Manager S. G. Martin of the Tom Moore Mining and Milling company, near Eureka, that heavy developments would be made in the company's property, with the prospect of a 1,000-ton mill being ultimately erected to treat the ore from the mine. A company of prominent capitalists from Pittsburg, Pa., stockholders of the company, was here last week looking over the ground, and it was decided to install a concentrating mill of 100 tons capacity at once, work on the foundation now being under way. A ten-drill Rand air compressor also has been purchased. Mr. Martin is now in Denver looking after the ordering of machinery, and it is thought the mill will be ready to start by October. It is intended to follow this mill with another of 500 tons capacity farther down the hill, which will be built in 100-ton units, capable of being added to from time to time, as the production of the mine may justify, until the maximum capacity of 1,000 tons per day is reached. Considerable tungsten is mixed with the ore, and the smaller mill will probably be devoted to its exclusive treatment later on.

There are already upwards of 7,000 feet of development work done on the property, consisting of tunnels, shafts and crosscuts.

A recent examination, based on careful measurements of the ore exposed, showed upwards of $3,500,000 worth of ore in sight, capable of being multiplied many times over as the work is pushed on the tremendous ore bodies.

The other local sensation was the announced determination of Otto Mears to henceforth keep his Red Mountain line, the Silverton railway, and his Silverton Northern road to Eureka and Animas Forks free from the winter blockades which have characterized that territory in the past. Snowsheds of unusual extent and tremendous resisting power will be required, but Mr. Mears officially announces that they will be provided by next winter. The most difficult stretch is between Eureka and Animas Forks, which will require an almost continuous line of sheds. These will have sloping roofs, reinforced by immense timbers and the interstices packed with rock, while along the mountain side above the track great bulwarks of rock and timber will serve to resist the great weight of snow. Stations will be provided at regular intervals within the sheds, where relays of section men will be kept to keep free the track, and repair the sheds. The road between Silverton and Eureka can be kept open with little expense, and the Red Mountain line, though it has been regularly closed during the winter months of the past, can be kept clear with only a small proportion of the expense of the Eureka-Animas Forks trackage.

Mr. Mears has entered into contracts to transport the Gold Prince ore and the output of other producers lying in the Animas danger zone throughout the winter months. The greatest epoch in the life of this section will have been reached if Mr. Mears' project proves feasible, as it will mean production and active operation all over the district the year round instead of a part of it. Should the Rio Grande management follow Mr. Mears' lead and snowshed the canon below town, Silverton would also be kept more regularly in touch with the outside world during the winter months.

DEAD SHOT MAY HAVE GOOD ORE

OPERATOR BRANDT BELIEVES HE HAS STRUCK A LEAD ON SPRINGS PEOPLE'S PROPERTY.

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 6.—Persistent effort on the part of A. T. Brandt on the Dead Shot claim, on Rosebud hill, for three years is about to have its reward, and this operator expects to be in good ore within the week. Brandt has just cut into a vein 18 feet west of a small shaft at a depth of 75 feet, and is sure that it is a lead for which he has been prospecting for months. Two hundred feet south Brandt sunk a shaft 200 feet deep and did 300 feet of crosscutting. He found several good leads, but no pay ore. The company claimed half of the lease and benevolently paid him $5 a foot for the sinking. But it got tired, and Brandt's revenues ran out, so he quit. He subleased a portion of his tenure to William Slattery, and stood by while Slattery took out three cars of ore from surface down to a depth of 25 feet. The cut was so shallow that it caved in while loading his last car, carrying himself and horses into the hole, so that they had to be dug out. Then Pat O'Connor found a big vein of $7.50 ore and two good leads fifty feet east of the Slattery. Now Brandt has sunk his shaft and crosscut to the O'Connor vein, and believes he will be in ore in no time. And everyone who knows Brandt hopes he is right.

The Dead Shot is a full claim, owned by the Dead Shot company of Colorado Springs, of which A. F. Woodward is president. It is bounded on the south by the Mary Nevins.

OO HAS PAY MINERAL

Sillsville Property Gives Promise and Will Be Developed.

According to the Gunnison Republican C. T. Snedaker of Chicago has put a large force of men to work on the Double O claim, at Sillsville, down on the Cochetopa, and has from different samples of the ore taken for assay obtained the results following: No. 1, ten ounces gold and sixty ounces silver; No. 2, three ounces gold and eighty of silver; No. 3, twelve ounces gold and twenty ounces silver, the silver value being $190 per ton. A new mill for the mine has been purchased and is on the way to Sillsville. The plan is to have it set up and running 100 tons a day some time in July.

The Black Cat mill, four miles south of the town, will be remodeled and set to working ore from that part of the district. New mines are being opened daily in that section. Everyone who owns a prospect is working it and soon more mills will be needed to handle the mine products.

At the Maple Leaf the mill is doing fine work and effecting a high saving of values. Sillsville is only twelve miles from Gunnison and is growing rapidly.

The Alpine coal mines at Mount Carbon are outputting great quantities of coal and the Colorado and Southern railroad is kept busy hauling it over the range and supplying local trade. The Ruby Anthracite is being put in order for an increased output. The Smith Anthracite is preparing to double its tonnage. Several new mines near Crested Butte will make heavy yields this summer and next fall. It will require all the cars the Denver and Rio Grande can spare to handle the coal taken from the various mines.

WORK IS RESUMED ON THE MERCHANTS GROUP

OURAY, Colo., June 6.—The Merchants Mining company has resumed work on its group north of the Mineral farm, where considerable development has been done in recent years. Some ore is being extracted in drifting along the contact but work is embarrassed on account of water.

GOLD DIRT ORE YIELDS PROFITS

LARGE ORE RESERVES IN MINE AT EMPIRE, COLO., ARE NOW BEING ECONOMICALLY REMOVED.

EMPIRE, Colo., June 6.—Operations on the Gold Dirt property of the Empire Tunnel company are being rapidly extended, and should produce quite a revenue from the considerable reserves of ore whose economical removal has been provided for by new machinery at the shaft, also by the completion of an upraise from the Empress tunnel level and a connecting crosscut that will accommodate both the company and lessees on the Pioneer vein, now sending its large output to the surface through the Gold Dirt workings. Leases on several blocks of ground have been effected, notably those to Wing Bros., Thomas and Trevillion, and Seifert and Cowles, at points where a better profit could be derived than by company operation.

The prestige gained by the Waltham cyanide mill at Idaho Springs through the high saving of values from mill stuff shipped from the Mint mine on Cayode mountain, a saving of practically 95 per cent, has induced the Pioneer lessees to forward 100 tons for trial, and should equally satisfactory result be obtained, the immense deposits of milling ore that have been held to await the erection of the MacDonald smelter, by the Empress company, will be milled by the same process, either at Idaho Springs or by a cyaniding plant, whose construction at Empire has been decided upon by the operators of several of the larger properties.

DEAL FOR O. K. CLOSED

Capitalists Get Control of Central City Property.

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., June 6.—Deeds have been recorded conveying from Aldred Anderson and others of this city to A. H. Frost of San Diego, Cal., and J. R. Hastings of Chicago the O. K., in Gregory district.

While the consideration was not stated, it is known to be large, and a substantial payment was made. The property was once owned by the late John W. Mackay of California, has a main shaft 600 feet deep and was purchased about a year ago from the Buckley estate of New York city by Messrs. Anderson and others of this city.

During the interval considerable development has been done, leases have been working steadily, and large ore bodies have been opened. The property is now in shape for a liberal and regular production.

FOUR-FOOT VEIN OPENED ON THE ENGINEER CLAIM

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 6.—John Hodges is sinking a shaft which has now attained a depth of twenty feet on the Engineer claim of the Currency company on the southern slope of Guyot hill and has a good vein four feet wide. Sinking will be continued for fifty feet before crosscutting is begun. Prospects for opening up an ore body are first-class in the Engineer and it is likely that the windlass now in use will be replaced with a plant of machinery before long.

GOLDEN CYCLE COMPANY INSTALLS A LARGE PUMP

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 6.—The Golden Cycle company has received its new 50x32 pump, and will lower it to place on the 1,200-foot station as soon as the work at that point is completed, which it is expected to be in a few days. It is anticipated that the new machine will be capable of handling 10,000 gallons of water per minute.

CONSPICUOUS REALIZING

SPECULATIVE PARTY, HOWEVER, CONTINUES ITS EFFORTS TO HOLD PRICES UP—MONEY SITUATION.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The realizing of profits was rather more conspicuous in today's stock market than the new buying of stocks, but the speculative party which is conducting the largest share of the operations in the present market did not relinquish the efforts to hold prices against this realizing by support of special stocks. There were fewer of the stocks among the influential standard issues chosen for that purpose today and more of the less conspicuous and low grade industrials.

Most of the supporting effort centered upon St. Paul and was extended over later to Union Pacific. Outside of these there was a miscellaneous list of specialties which rose from time to time, and supplemented only slightly the staying effect of the leaders. There was a decided shrinkage in the volume of the market. The tone of the trading was but little changed and news developments were to be regarded, and in fact were not of great importance.

Monday's buying was professedly based to some extent on an assumption that an early adjournment of congress was probable. The selling today which was based on professed disappointment over a revised prospect of an extended session of the law-making body probably came from the same professional sources.

The easy tendency of the local market for money continued and extended to rates for time loans carrying over the end of the year. The amount of business done was reported to be small. Another phase of the money outlook was seen in the rising course of foreign exchange with the increase in local money supplies. Some of the demand for remittances abroad was reported to be to provide for payment of maturing finance bills on which great sums have been borrowed abroad. Banking authorities consider it an open question still whether the gold imported against the sudden emergency of the San Francisco calamity, and which was borrowed in effect, is not destined to flow back to Europe with the relaxation of money rates here, rather than be retained here against the fall money requirements. Pennsylvania was weak again today on the reported delay in completing this transaction. Some stress was laid upon the possible effect upon the merchandise trade balance of a falling off in exports of packing house products which is threatened as a consequence of the packing house abuses. With the growing ease of money here there was noticed a movement in interior exchanges against New York, the rate at Chicago today falling to a discount. A possible diversion of the return flow of funds from San Francisco to New York and to other points is indicated by this. London discounts were inclined to yield today, but Berlin hardened and Paris sold securities freely in London. The firmness in the price of wheat was connected with reports of unfavorable weather conditions. The mixed tone of the market continued up to the closing. Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $2,965,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WHEAT STRONG; CLOSED AT TOP

KENTUCKY CROP REPORT WAS MAIN FACTOR—SHORTS AND PACKERS PUT PROVISION PRICES UP.

CHICAGO, June 7.—The wheat market was strong all day. There was a good demand at the opening by commission houses and pit traders, and as the day advanced the demand became more general. Offerings were light throughout the session.

The main factor in the situation was the state crop report of Kentucky, which gave the condition of fall sown wheat in that state on June 1 as 78, against 97 on the 1st of May. The deterioration was said to have been caused by lack of moisture. Other factors that strengthened the market were excessive rains in the Northwest, dry weather in Nebraska, reports of damage in Texas and Oklahoma and an advance of 1 cent in the price of cash wheat at Kansas City. The market closed strong, with prices near the highest point of the day. July opened unchanged to a shade higher at 80¾ to 80⅞@81c, sold up to 81c and closed at 81⅛@81¼c.

Liberal local receipts depressed the corn market at the opening, but sentiment soon became bullish and prices experienced a sharp rally. Shorts and commission houses were active bidders, but offerings were unequal to the demand. The market closed strong and close to the highest point. July opened ⅛c to ⅛@¼c lower at 49⅛c to 49⅛@49¼c, advanced to 50⅜c and closed at 50¼c.

Oats were in active demand all day, but offerings were very light. The bulk of the buying resulted from the publication of a Kentucky state crop report. July opened a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 34⅝c to 34⅝c, advanced to 35⅜c, where it closed. Local receipts were 222 cars.

Provisions were strong, because of lively buying by shorts and local packers. A 5c to 7½c advance in the price of live hogs and diminished receipts formed the basis of the demand. At the close July pork was up 20c at $16.47½. Lard was up 15c at $8.75. Ribs were 25@27½c higher at $9.10@9.47½.

Dissension has sprung up in the ranks of the boosters. Tuesday evening a meeting of the "Go Ahead" club was held in the office of R. J. Reese, president of the club. When the question came up of granting the contract for the printing of the booklet which is to be issued in the interests of Colorado City by the boosters, the trouble began. Part of those present wanted the work given to a Colorado Springs printing company, while the others maintained that the contract should and must be awarded to a Colorado City company. When the club declared that the subscribers would not be consulted in regard to spending the funds, [illegible] Kranz and several others who subscribed money to aid in the boosting work declared that they would not pay their subscriptions. Mayor J. F. Murray left the meeting. A special business meeting of the club will be held this evening at the office of Mr. Reese, when the matter will be settled. The booklet is ready for the press.

The banner has been ordered for the club and when completed will probably be stretched across Colorado avenue at Court street from the office of Judge Bates, where the bureau of information will be located.

ASK YOURSELF...

If you saw a shining gold-piece
Would you stoop to pick it up?
Do you think a carat diamond
Worth as much as a bull pup?
If out of work and very needy
Would you turn a position down.
Ask yourself if you are living
In the right section of the town.
Are your meals at restaurants costing
More than you can well afford?
Did it ever thing that it would pay you
To arrange for regular board?
Are you tired of taking orders
From another? Would you get
Into business for yourself, sir
If a bargain should be met?
Have you money in the savings
Bank that draws but three per cent
While it might do it, sir, be doubling
If it were wisely spent?
Real estate is always rising
In its value, records show.
